Dear Mr. Helms:

Our Forty-eighth Class of the Armed Forces Staff College will begin its studies of joint and combined planning and operations on 17 August, and we are hoping that you will be able to join us to give our students your views on the Agency. Our tentative date is Monday, 9 November, at 1000 (EST); and we do hope you can make it. However, we understand the many demands upon your time and realize that the possibility of your coming is rather slim. If your schedule simply can't accommodate us, we would be happy to welcome General Cushman (who has given us such fine presentations in the past) or any other representative you wish to designate.

We have planned our usual procedure -- a 45-minute lecture, a 15-minute break, and a 45-minute question period (which can be adjusted to meet your schedule). We would also be pleased if you (or your representative) could join us for a luncheon with some faculty members and a few students. Major Barbara Darden, USAF, a member of my staff, will complete the arrangements for the visit, if these plans are suitable.

With best wishes

Sincerely,
